He hasn't the remotest idea of how the stone got into his larynx.

POLITICAL.

Hon. Abram Henick, of Clark county, is being urged by friends to make the race for the democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.

The day of conventions for the purpose of nominating candidates for the various offices, is rapidly becoming a thing of the past and truly it should.—Mt. Vernon Signal.

Not a republican was elected to the State court bench of Tennessee in last week's elections. For the first time an entire democratic county ticket was elected at Knoxville.

Hon. A. O. Stanley, of Henderson, democratic nominee for Congress in the Second, has announced the appointment of Maj. J. Tandy Ellis, of Owensboro, as his private secretary.

Hon. Ed Parker's "I am defeated, but not conquered," in his farewell to political ambition, sounds like Arctic Explorer Haldwin's "I am baffled, but not beaten." Both traveled a long, cold trail and got nothing.—Louisville Times.

A request, it is said, will be made of President Roosevelt to call an extra session of the Senate to ratify a treaty with Cuba, reducing tariff duties 25 per cent. This, it is claimed, would be a "supreme test" of the administration's sincerity in its protestation of desires to alleviate Cuba's economic condition.

Chairman Griggs, of the democratic Congressional committee, regards with great satisfaction the action of the National Association of Meat Dealers in resolving to attack the beef combine by endeavoring to remove the tariff barriers on meats. He believes that it will greatly militate toward furthering the views of Democracy on the question of the tariff and trusts.

Senator Hanna in an address at Chautauque, N. Y., on "Labor and Capital" said that the object of the Civic Federation was to establish absolute confidence between employer and employee. He said that the only way to end the strife between labor and capital was to apply the golden rule. He praised the organizing of labor and said that it must be conceded that the majority of strikes had been just.

ROBERT PORTER CROW,

Son of our countryman, Mr. R. H. Crow, is only 11 years old, but he is gaining reputation as a writer. His story on the "Robinson Crusoe Expedition" won first prize in the St. Nicholas contest. There were 40-odd contestants. Following is the story:

DEAR ST. NICHOLAS: In command of the expedition to rescue Robinson Crusoe I would place Greatheart and Captain Nemo. Greatheart because he is the noblest and bravest character in the literature of the world; Captain Nemo because he is the greatest navigator ever heard of in history or romance, and his knowledge of the waters on the globe was perfect. He had such a wonderful and inventive mind that I am sure he would take many devices to terrify and defeat the savages without shedding blood. In case of storm or any danger his knowledge and ingenuity would be invaluable.

John Nidd, on account of his great strength and manly courage.

The Deerslayer, for his chivalry, courage, and truth.

Rudolf Rassendyll, for his shrewd quickness of mind, his dexterity, and his fidelity in every undertaking.

D'Ariagnan, because of his wonderful skill with the sword and his dauntless courage.

Olaf Guldmar, for he was a true seaman, possessed a vigorous mind, and was brave and fearless.

Long Tom Collin, because he combined true bravery and nobility of soul with a thorough knowledge of the sea.

Tom Bowling and Ned Land, because they were bold, heroic seamen, and could be depended on in time of danger.

Henry L. Shattuck of Shelbyburg, Ia., was cured of a stomach trouble with which he had been afflicted for years, by four boxes of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. He had previously tried many other remedies and a number of physicians without relief. For sale by Craig & Hocker, Druggists, Stanford.

There are said to be five candidates for Commonwealth's attorney in the 13th district. As the salary of the office is $500, there must be good pickings in fees down there or many lawyers are out of jobs and clients.—Lexington Democrat.

"Maud Muller takes the hay no more, Her fame, I fear, will leave her; She dares not do her former stunt— For Maud now has hay fever."

A grocery store of this city probably has the youngest junior partner of any firm of the State, if not on the entire globe. The sign reads "H. M. Ballou & Son," the younger member being a little two-year-old tot in kilt and the very apple of the senior partner's eye.

It is stated that the Hotel Garrard will be rebuilt at an early date and will probably be ready for occupancy by cold weather. The company is now figuring on a two-story structure at a cost of about $20,000, but it is to be hoped that another handsome three-story edifice will soon make its appearance.

For Congress,

G. G. GILBERT

Of Shelby.

KING EDWARD has at last been crowned and the whole country breathes easier. It took place at noon Saturday in Westminster Abbey, London, before a brilliant assemblage of English nobility. Upon the monarch's return to Buckingham Palace, where, on June 25, he lay at death's door, it was officially announced that he had stood well the day's ordeal. No accident marred the processions or the ceremonies in the Abbey. An incident approaching the sensational occurred when the venerable Archbishop of Canterbury attempted to place the crown on the King's head. Overcome by nervousness and suffering from impaired eyesight, he started to place the emblem backward. An instant later he swooned and would have fallen had not Edward himself grabbed him by the arm. W. T. Stead, the London editor, in describing this coronation, cites as its most interesting feature the homage to the Gallies paid by the King and Queen in bowing in prayer amid scenes of such splendor and grandeur.

DEMOCRATIC control of the National House of Representatives seems to be assured if never falling signs are to be reckoned with. It is only necessary to change 23 districts to succeed in making a democratic majority. The membership of the next house will be increased from 357 to 370. Of this increase Northern States get 19, while the Southern States get 10. There are many things to make the democrats hopeful. The beet-sugar quarrel in Michigan, the certain gain of a Congressman in Pennsylvania, the factional fight in the East St. Louis district, a gain in North Carolina, a gain of two in Kentucky, all these things portend a rout of the republicans from the control of the House.

"A VERY strong pressure will be brought to bear on the Hon. John D. White to induce him to enter the race for Congress against Judge Vincent Breling. White is now located in Louisville, but claims Manchester, Clay county, as his home," says a dispatch from Middlesboro. The "jayhawker" loves to run for Congress, but having seen what a sprinter Mr. Breling is, we opine he and the rest of the eligibles of the "bloody eleventh" will be content to stand back and let the person-politician walk in and succeed himself.

A DISPATCH has been received in Washington from Louisville stating that Commissioner Yerkes has declined to be a candidate for the republican gubernatorial nomination, and that Judge Clifton J. Pratt will be nominated by acclamation. Of course Mr. Yerkes will not run. A little experience gained some two years ago will last the revenue commissioner a long time and will make him exceedingly shy of running for office in Kentucky.

MR. WILLOUGHBY S. WILLIAMS, who was managing editor of the Lexington Democrat for a year or more, is again associated with the paper, this time as Editor Walton's assistant. Mr. W. is an exceedingly bright young man, has had lots of experience in the journalistic field and we predict that the Democrat will be improved by his work on it. By the way, Mr. Walton is getting together a splendid force on his excellent paper.

OUR favorites for judge and Commonwealth's Attorney, Judge M. C. Saulley and J. S. Owsley, Jr., preferred a primary, but democrats as they are they take what is given them without kick. That they will win in the convention we haven't a doubt, but we wanted a primary, believing it the fairest and best method and certainly the best way of testing a man's strength.

THE dime novelist isn't in it any more. Tracey's career of crime baffles anything he ever imagined. During the time he was a fugitive he killed nine men, wounded three and stole horses, engines, launches and boats, finally killing himself in preference to being captured.

THERE are six candidates for the office of United States Senator from South Carolina in place of James L. McLaurin, whose term expires March 4, 1903. It is hoped with such a field to pick from, better choice will be made than by recent Legislatures in the Palmetto State.

AS soon as Mr. W. P. Walton gets his paper, the Lexington Democrat, to running smoothly he will begin a vigorous campaign for the nomination for railroad commissioner. He has pledges of support from many portions of his district and with the big county of Fayette solidly at his back he is bound to be a formidable candidate. His chances for the nomination grow brighter as the days go by and if he doesn't succeed the present incumbent, C. C. McChord, his friends will be both surprised and disappointed. Having heartily supported the democratic party for 30 or 40 years and having never asked for recognition from that party, it is but just and right now that he should have given what he wants. An experienced railroad man and fair and honorable in all of his dealings, the railroads could not object to him, while the people could rest assured that their interests would never be neglected while he was a member of the railroad commission. Vote for him.

ALL right Messrs. Committeemen, we'll take your preconcert conventions, etc., without a word. We'll also show you that Judge M. C. Saulley and Commonwealth's Attorney Owsley can win that way just as easily as in a primary.

AT Altoona, Pa., 13 cows are dynamite and were blown to atoms. Another case of the fatal number, 13.

Two persons were killed and several were wounded in a fight between Mexican shepherders and cattlemen at Battle, Wyo. Everybody in the town is armed for another meeting.

The republicans of Lincoln county will meet in mass convention at the court house, Aug. 30, to select a delegate to the district convention in Nicholasville, Sept. 30, which will nominate a candidate for Congress.

CAMDEN.—Emeline, wife of W. G. Camden, was born Aug. 4th, 1820. Married Oct. 19, 1854, and died Aug. 8, 1902. She had been a consistent member of the Baptist church for 42 years. She leaves a husband and four grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren to mourn the loss of a kind and affectionate wife and grandmother. She had a complication of diseases for a number of years, but a congestive chill brought the end in 48 hours. The aged husband and his grandchildren have the sympathy of the entire community in the loss of their companion and grandmother, but may they only believe that their loss is her eternal gain. The funeral was preached by Rev. Nathan Singleton, after which the remains were laid to rest in the Double Springs Cemetery. D. R. P.

Reporter—But what about the rest? Editor—I'll tell you the rest when you get that done.—Los Angeles Herald.

Sickness steals more savings than the burglar. Slowly, coin by coin, the money that has been so hardy earned is paid out for drugs and doctors. Sickness is the worst enemy of the working man, and the common cause of the working man's sickness is disease of the stomach often involving the heart, lungs, liver, or kidneys.

The use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will stop the stealing of the savings, by sickness. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It cures diseases of heart, liver, lungs, kidneys, etc., when these diseases are caused by the diseased condition of the stomach and its allied organs.

"About ten years ago I began to have trouble with my stomach," writes Wm. Connolly, of 345 Walnut Street, Lorain, Ohio. "It got so bad I had to lay off quite often two and three days in a week, my stomach would bloat, and I would belch up gas and was in awful distress at such times. I have employed and been treated by the best doctors in the city but got no help whatever. By some way or other I happened to get hold of a box of your 'Pellets,' and I thought they helped me. It was then I wrote to you for advice. You told me that by my symptoms you thought I had liver complaint, and advised the use of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets' in connection. These medicines I have taken as directed, and am very happy to state that I commenced to get better from the start and have not lost a day this summer on account of my stomach. I feel tip-top, and better than I have for ten years." Accept to substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." Nothing else is "just as good."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the bowels.

SATISFIED.—"What do you think of the action of the democratic district committee at Danville Saturday?" was asked by an I. J. reporter of Hon. John Sam Owsley, Jr., candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney in this district. "While I preferred," he responded, "a primary election, and so expressed myself before the committee, I have no complaint to make of their action in calling precinct conventions for Dec. 6, county conventions the 8th and district convention the 10th, to be held at Danville. It is the province of the district committee to select the plan of nominating, and I am satisfied that they have done what they thought was best, and I cheerfully acquiesce in their action."

NOTICE.—It has been the aim of the Central Ky. Real Estate Exchange to secure options on that class of property where the owner is exceedingly anxious to sell or is forced to sell and thereby secure a low price on same and hold out some inducement to buyers. Read their list carefully and see the bargains offered.

STANFORD GRADED SCHOOL.—The Fall session will open Sept. 1. The primary and first grade will be taught at corner of Main and Somerset Streets, the second, third, fourth and fifth grades at Mrs. Withers' cottage on Danville Ave.; the sixth, seventh and eighth grades at 802 East Main St. and the High School at 508 East Main.

HEAD BLOWN OFF.—Manley Florence, who lives near the Hanging Fork bridge on the Hustonville pike, was instantly killed near Paris Friday. He was working for the Cumberland Telephone Co. and with a number of others had set a blast. The explosion did not occur as soon as they expected and they went to see about. Just as they reached the hole it went off, killing Mr. Florence and badly wounding two others. The former's head was entirely blown off. The remains were brought to McKinney Saturday and interred. Mr. Florence was an excellent young man and his untimely death is greatly regretted.

WHEN asked by a reporter for his views of the action of the democratic committee of this judicial district, Judge Sandley remarked that he had been strongly and openly in favor of a primary election; that method, according to his judgment, was the only one which affords to the people a fair and easy method of expressing their choice of a nominee; there was in it less machinery, fewer opportunities for jugglery, rascalties, frauds and combinations to defeat the will of the people. Besides this, it is a simple way. He could perceive no reason why a democrat, however humble, when he came to vote for a candidate, should be required to select an agent, which agent in turn should select another agent and this last agent should cast the vote of that democrat. It would be simpler and easier to let the democrat do his own voting and do away with the middle men.

"Nevertheless," said the judge, "I have never in my life bolted the nomination of my party, nor refused to abide the action of its constituted authorities, and I never will. If I do not get my own man or my own plan, I take what is offered. I believe in party organization and intend to maintain it always as best I can."

PRECINCT CONVENTIONS.—The democratic district committee of this judicial district, which met at Danville Saturday, determined upon a convention to be held in Danville Dec. 10 as the method by which candidates for the offices of circuit judge and Commonwealth's Attorney should be selected. Preceding this, precinct conventions will be held throughout the district Dec. 6, followed by a county house convention on Dec. 8, at which delegates will be selected for the district convention. While this paper, and we believe the people generally, preferred a primary, we register no kick on the committee's action, save that we think the chairman of the committee of Boyle, Mercer and Garrard should not have entirely ignored the wishes of the democrats they represent. It would have been a fairer test of the various candidates' strength had the primary method been adopted and we have yet to learn why Messrs. Nichols, Robinson and Curry, chairman of the committees of Boyle, Garrard and Mercer, respectively, so persistently opposed that way of choosing nominees for circuit judge and Commonwealth's Attorney. Mr. Conn Bell, Mercer's chairman, resigned and Mr. Lee Curry was chosen in his stead. At the meeting in Danville, Messrs. J. Mort Rothwell, of Garrard, and Robert McKee, of Boyle, announced for Commonwealth's Attorney.

REUNION.—The 1st, 6th, 9th and 13th Kentucky Cavalry and the 4th, 10th and 19th Infantry will hold a reunion at Hustonville two days in October, the exact date of which has not been decided upon. Reduced rates have already been given by railroads and hotels, Mr. W. R. Williams, of Hustonville, tells us. All Confederate soldiers are invited.

THE pikes of this county are in worse shape than they have been in years and the attention of the magistrates is called to them. It is their business to look after the pikes and they owe it to the county, as well as to themselves, to give more of their time to our principal highways. With the exception of Knob Lick pike, all of them need both metting and ditching and if this work is not done on them soon the county will be put to the expense of building new pikes out and out. Let the magistrates act at once on this important matter.

THE Maccohees will have a great picnic at Waynesburg on Aug. 22 and 23. A good band will be on hand and good speakers will be present to entertain the crowd. A Correction. Owing to a report started either maliciously or through ignorance during the Danville Fair regarding the soundness of the eyes of my two-year-old stallion, Prospect, exhibited at the late fair, I deem it due myself and horse to state that I have had said horse critically examined by three veterinarians, and the following affidavit of these gentlemen should forever effectually silence all such reports.

AFFIDAVIT. Danville, Ky., August 7th, 1902.

We, the undersigned, veterinary surgeons, having been called in to examine the two-year-old colt, Prospect, (property of E. P. Old Table Notes.

John Russell, a gentleman some time member of the household of Humphrey Duke of Gloucester, was perhaps one of the first to give in his "Book of Names" (1400) instructions as to the laying of tables.

The tables were to be crosswise, not with the upper end of having been laid upon; knives were not to be wiped on the cloth. Apparently there were scanty articles of polished ware for the guests at that time, but etiquette and elaborate rules came in on the subject of carving and serving various pieces, which it was specially in charge for this or that guest. The "upper end of the table" was for the lord; also the wing of a capon.

Among indigestible and undesirable things were "fat, shews, hair, skin, feathers, heads, pickles, legs and outside of thighs." The different expressions, such as "taking off" the leg of a capon, "pulling" another bird's wing, etc., are not without intention and most practical indeed.

Some of the works on the subject, with their well designed plates showing the sections for carving where the knife should travel, might still be studied by modern hosts or their carvers, and yet the result would be good—quite as correct as our methods, which, like all the rest, are not new.

Tennyson's Vanity.

Charles Stewart, a British lawyer, published a volume of reminiscences and in it tells two stories about Tennyson, whom he found self conscious and accessible to flattery.

"A little piece of mine," he relates, "was one day standing beside his chair. He lifted her up and placed her on his knee for half a minute, and then he put her down, saying, 'Now you can say you have sat on Tennyson's knee!'"

On another occasion Tennyson was Jowett's guest at the Master's Lodge, Balliol, with a few other men, and after some good talk the poet had retired early to his room. Next morning at breakfast Tennyson was in a silent mood, but as the men were rising from the table he said: "Jowett, after I left you last night I wrote a few verses. I am not sure that I have ever done anything better. I will read them to you." Jowett, preparing to go off for his day's work, replied hastily: "Oh, no; thank you, Tennyson. I've no time for that sort of thing just now. I am very busy."

Sundry Ethics.

As grown up folks are divided on the question of what is proper and what is not proper to do on the Sabbath, perhaps two little girls, neighbors in West Eighty-second street, may be forgiven for a mild dispute overheard one recent Sunday afternoon. Both little maidens were freshly dressed and were evidently out upon the steps for a breath of air after their dinner. The younger one, full of the joy of living, was working off some of her youthful spirit by walking up one side of the stone steps and down the other.

"Oh, you oughtn't to do that on Sunday. It isn't right, and your mamma won't like it. That's what they call breaking the Sabbath," said the older one, about twelve years old. She was standing still and looking very reproachfully at her companion.

"Well, I don't care. What's a girl to do outdoors Sunday?" petulantly asked the little girl.

"Why, nothing, of course. Just stand around."—New York Post.

Treatment of Face Moles.

A hairy mole which is still growing should be removed at once, even at the risk of some injury to the skin. It is now probably no more than a plexus of capillary vessels, with only a small supply of connective tissue. There is also a likelihood that it has not yet involved the skin. If this be its condition, the skin over the tumor may be reflected in flaps, and the tumor itself strangulated with ligature in one of the usual ways. The flaps should then be replaced, and the result will be a minimum of cicatrix and deformity. But if the nevus be allowed to grow it will become a large, highly vascular, erectile tumor, probably invading and involving the skin, liable to profuse hemorrhage if injured, yet still quite amenable to treatment, though of a less simple kind. The modes of treating nevus are numerous and are continually increasing.

IN MEMORIAM.

A loving wife and a good mother gone home. Died near Crab Orchard on July 27, 1902, Rebecca J. Anderson, wife of John L. Anderson, aged 39 years. Mrs. Anderson made a profession of the christian religion about nine years ago and was baptized by Elder K. D. Noakes, after which she united with the Christian church and lived the life of a christian until the Lord called her home. She was a constant sufferer for many months, but was always ready to bear her sufferings with patience and when death came she calmly remarked, "I am going home." She has left behind a kind and affectionate husband and loving, faithful daughters and one dear little boy to mourn a mother's loss, but their loss is her gain in the sweet bye and bye. Her body was laid to rest July 28, 1902, at Ephesus church after funeral discourse by Elder K. D. Noakes and John Elder to a very large congregation, who were present to extend their sympathy to the one they always loved. May God bless the sorrowing and heart-broken ones and may His grace sustain them in this sad hour of sorrow and bereavement is the prayer of the writer.

The family wishes to extend their thanks to all the neighbors and friends that were so kind and good to us, both day and night all through our distress.
